Ike Rakiecki is a librarian at Mesa County Libraries. Part of his job involves answering reference questions, teaching computer classes, organizing programs for adults, and outreach in the community. On a regular basis Ike teaches business owners and employees how to use Reference USA. Reference USA is available free of charge with a library card and it provides users with detailed information on companies and prospective customers at a regional and local level. He is a native of Grand Junction, Colorado and enjoys the variety of responsibilities in his role as a librarian.
